CHICAGO (III.) Sept. 4.—(Exclusive Dispatch.] The mercury deacended to 48 in this city during the night, and all day the atmosphere was so cool that fall overceats made their appearance in great numbers. Sixty was the maximum temperature. The weather was decidedly invigorating, the sun shining brightly and reminding one of the near approach of Indian summer. In fact the local forecaster says the faint tinge of purple above the horizon is a sure forerunner of that season. The chilly wave has been wafted eastward, Northern Michigan now being in the frost line. There is no rain in sight, and Chicago and vicinity will have fair and slightly warmer weather for the immediate future. Frost prevailed over the Dakotas and Minnesota. The temperature went as low as 24 in Fargo. All late flax was killed, and other crops injured. Ice formed at Sloux Falls.

Six of the more seriously injured were removed to St. Like's Hospital, It is not begieved that any of the passengers were fatally Burt. Engineer Coburn, seated in his cab, was slightly injured. The responsibility for the accident has not been fixed, the crew of the Southern Pacific train and the motorman and conductor of the electric car telling conflicting stories. All agrees that the fog was so dense that it was almost impossible to distinguish objects.

The engineer of the train asserts that his bell was ringing and that the noise of the train was so great that he could not hear the approach of the electric car.

YOUTRFUL FIRE-BUG.

LIKES TO SEE ENGINES RUN.

FRESNO, Sept. 4.—This city claims possession of the most youthful firebug. The origin of three distinct fires has been traced to him.

About two weeks ago, Baby Emmons, 4 years old, deliberately built a fire alongside the dry walls of the Home Lodging-house, but it was discovered and put out in time.

Yesterday afternoon, the boy started a fire back of the Fresno Steam Laundry, and Immediately afterward in the rear of the stable on Inyo street, between A and J.

Application of a burning match to a pile of straw and to some shavings started both fires, for which a telephone alarm was sent in.

The chemicals quickly put out the fames.

Budden color splashed her cheeks as she held out her hand. "I would have known you anywhere, Mr. Keating," ahe said.

"Are you waiting for some one?" he asked, sitting down beside her. "May I talk to you for a little while? Mrs. Carruthers-Oliver-I was just calling on her—asked me to come down and send away a reporter, but I think it was a ruse to get rid of me—at least, I see the fellow's gone." Then he did not know. Miss Harrey slipped a hand into her jacket to make sure that her little scratch pad was not in sight.

"Lillian, let: me look at you. Would any one think that you are four years older than when I last, saw you? Do you remember that day—" He paused. It was she who wrenched back to safer ground.

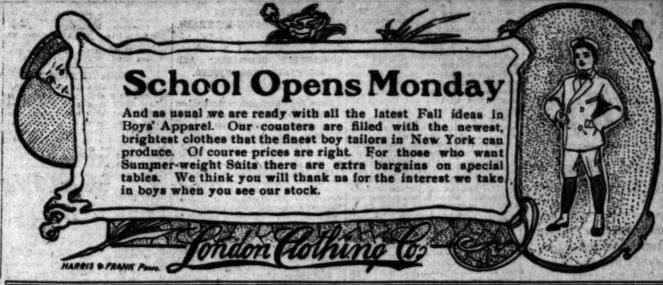

"Bo sad about Mrs. Carruthers-Oliver's son." Her voice sounded strange and loud. "Is it true that he is really married to that girl?"

Mr. Keating took his cue promptly. "Yes," he said; "It.is, and Mrs. Oliver is awfully cut up over it. Of course, no one wants a French music hall singer for a daughter-dn-law."

There's nothing wonderful about Innes School Shees. They are simply made of the best leather, made with great care, made to keep their good appearance no matter how roughly the children play.

All this, yet the Innes prices are quite as small as you'd pay for doubtful quality. Don't believe you'd hesitate after you examine a pair.

The following conundrum, relating to this subject, was recently received from a reader of The Times:

"If A buys a ticket to Chicago and return, he has, in the ticket, an agreement of the railroad company to carry one person to Chicago and return, full value received. In Chicago A sells ticket to-B, who returns. The railroad company cries "fraud" and "cheat" at such action; but in what way are they defrauded, they having received full value for carrying one person to Chicago and return? What difference does it make if A or B rides?"

Full Flare Petticoats $13.50.

One of the newest and most up-to-date styles is made with a full flare 14-inch founce trimmed in 3-inch corded ruffles. This gives it the very full flare at the bottom now so much desired. Priced at $13.50.

Gray and White Striped Petticoats $12.50.

This petticoat is extremely stylish. It is made of gray and white striped silk with full flare 15-inch flounce that is finished at the bettom with black silk ruching in a very effective way. Priced $12.50.

Lace Trimmed Black Skirts $12.50.

Our line of black petticoats is unusually fine and we have a full showing of black lace trimmed; also some peau de sole skirts which give perfect satisfaction as far as wear is concerned. Priced $12.50.

Jersey Skirts $13.50 to $25.00.

These jersey silk top skirts are extremely popular among ladies of stoat build and have proven one of our best sellers. We show a very complete line ranging in price all the way from $13.50 to $25.00.

Black Novelty Skirts $20.00.

This is one of the very latest novelities. It is a black taffets tailor made skirt with a 19-inch full flare flounce finished with two bands and stitched with white slik. The skirt is very styllsh and is priced at $20.00.

Fine Line of $5.00 Skirts.

We show a line of $5.00 skirts in a number of styles—some made with full flare flounces; others with deep umbrells ruffles finished with 3-inch hematiched ruffles. This line of skirts are all made with an under ruffle of spun glass silk which is much appreciated. In this line you will find all of the leading shades. Priced $5.00.

LYDIA E PINKHAM'S to the dozens of farmers in this county who have been attacking the pest with hoe, plow and fire for the last three months. Judging from what I saw during a tour of the Middle West two years ago, the farmers who started this story about the nutritive value of this thistie are making the best of a bad bargain. They fought the noxious weed by law and by building wire fences to prevent the tumbling proclivities of the nuisance. Failing to subdue the Russian weed, they now proclaim it the best of food for stock. An agricultural journal of Minnesota states that no complaints are heard of the plant's ravages since its value has been discovered. It has overwhelmed so many communities that they have become indurated. Meantime the land holders of Redondo, Artesia and other intested localities will no doubt continue to fight the threatened danger, and hope that no one in Southern California will advocate the production of Russian thistle hay. Thousands of acres have been cleaned up this season, and some means should be provided to continue the work till all danger is averted.

Observations Afar.

Those summer tourists who have not followed the native mountain climbers followed the native mountain climbers (or those who write their nativity by brevet,) have missed the opportunity of their lives, and I wish to remind them of it lest they return to the East thinking they have "did" Southern California thoroughly. True, they have sniffed the climate, tasted the salt air, and toured the magnificent cases of the valleys. To do this they have had to endure the long stretches of bare low-land fields, and been disappointed with the brownness thereof. But away up where the September frosts would remind them that they were not so far tion, or the condition of the scale. Where every detail is observed in the time of application—it is the very best method of treatment for insect in-(extion. As physicians disagree in practice, remedies, etc., so will the best funisators hold to different pians, and nothing but practical observation as to results of different processes is of value. It is hoped the representative of the university man beautiful.

It is stated that a book is coming into manuscript form devoted to the ficra of the southern portion of the State, and we may look for the announcement in a very few months. Lovers of the glorious valleya, hills and mountains of this favored land, and their natural adornment, as well as the few scientific, will look for the publication of this promised volume with unsual interest. Only one work is extent, as far as I can learn, covering the unsual interest. Only one work is ex-tant, as far as I can learn, covering the field this department delineates with sketch and suggestion. That book is valuable to the cursory inquirer, but does not give in compact form specific description, synopsis of species broad and comprehensive, or interesting alike to botanist, horticulturist, farmer and tourist.

The new work is in charge of Willis
J Jepson of the University of California, assisted by Messrs. Parish, Davy, Braunton, Greata and Miss Palmer.
From the assistants Prof. Jepson should be able to produce a work alike the brownness thereof. But away up where the September frosts would remind them that they were not so far from their native climate stand the grand pines and furrow the deep cafions with varied and novel attractions. I see great armfuls of golden rod, tail lilles and wild asters brought from the mountain fastnesses, souvenirs of chaparral and forest; canes of varied form and hue; beautiful masses of fern and fine specimens of moss. All these are tokens of novel scenery and grand paporama, within easy call of result of his work in this and any ing orchards showed that his judgment was good in the matter of burning foliage. The proprietor, however, was obdurate, and attached a weight to the scales which added three-fourths of an ounce all through the schedule, and further stipulated that the tents should be left on the trees one hour. The orchard was fumigated and these conditions carried out August 1.

The orchard was fumigated and these conditions carried out August 1.

"On August 11 the inspector and one of the commissioners inspected the orchard for results. The foliage showed the strength of the dose, and the killing of the black scale had been thorough. They were unable to find any scale alive outside the shell, and as the hatch had been uniform, this closely approximated a clean sweep. Two rows containing thirty-seven trees in all were selected with a view of determining what was left under the shells. Taking a row of trees each and opening a tally list, the summary at the end of the rows showed as follows:

"Under the scale upon the trees:
Live larvae of Temocera Californica. 3 Live larvae of Reanlum oleas...... 3 Live larvae of Lecanium oleas...... 3 "The owner of the orchard and a neighbor having joined the searching party, a sheet was secured and the trees tested. Rhizoblus, both in the beetle and larvae state, were found abundant upon the foliage of all the trees tested. It has been held for many years that not over 20, or, at the most, 30 per cent. of the lady birds upon the trees at the time succumbed to fumi-

SECOND COMPLAINT.

Crowell's second cause of action against Col. Ewing is because of the latter's failure to pay the plaintiff a commission on the recent sale of the Leland group of mines in Mohave county, Ariz. This property was owned by Col. Ewing, who last week disposed of it to O. A. Turner and John W. Woodside, after the property had been improved by M. P. Gilbert, for $500,000. The would produce a purchaser who was willing to pay $150,000 for the property; and states that it was through his efforts that the attention of M. P. Gilbert was called to the mines. Gilbert, it appears, was instrumental in dispos-ing of the mines to Turner and Wood-COL. EWING'S STATEMENT.

col. EWING'S STATEMENT.

Col. Ewing is most emphatic in his denial that J. Irving Crowell is entitled to a cent for alleged damages, or alleged breach of contract. "There is nothing in the suits brought against me but the one idea of extorting money without any cause whatever, he declared yesterday. "One cannot make a large mining deal without some irresponsible person trying to black-mail, and this is one of those cases. "I never agreed to purchase the copper properties, as is stated. My only agreement was to pay him a certain sum for the property, if I succeeded in finding a purchaser. An effort was made to dispose of them through E. A. Davidson of Stockton, who took the proposition East, but was unable to do anything with it. "The placing of the deeds in escrow was merely a guarantee that Mr. Crowell could deliver the claims, if a purchaser was found.

"Regarding the matter of a commission for the sale of the Leland group, all I can say is the claims are without foundation. The sale of the Leland property was not negotiated by me, nor was there any commission paid to any one. I did not give it to Crowell to sell. Had I been selecting an agent I would have chosen some one of ability and standing to do the work.

"I will be very giad to have this matter aired in opurt, as such efforts at extortion as this injures the mining bisiness."

MONARCH MEDAL SCORES.

Bowling for the sliver medals offered by the Monarch alleys on Hill street has been the cause of some good scores during the past two weeks. Each medal for both ninepins and tenpins must be won three times by one bowler to become his property. For the first week, A. J. Benfer took the men's tenpin medal with high score of 346, and the second week retained it with a score of 246. So far this week, he is high with 235. For the sides' medal. Mrs. G. Pinther was high the first and second weeks with 184 and 185, and so far this week, Mrs. Wilson is high with 186.

In the ninepin contest, B. A. Hershey won it the first week with 10, and 8. H. Stingle the second with 8. So far this week, A. J. Benfer and C. Groshong have each made 3.

Work on replaning the eight alleys will be finished this week, and those reflited are in first-class shape.

Cecil G. Fennell continues as general manager of the corporation.

Report comes from Chloride that on the 360-foot level of the C.O.D. mines, the 560-foot level of the C.O.D. mines, the feet from the main shaft, a body of ore has been discovered four feet in width, which averages 550 ounces of silver and 316 in gold to the ton. Nugrest of solid silver are being taken, out, and the whole breast of ore shows wire and native silver.

The final payment of the purchase price of 335,000 is to be made this week on the Cameron mines in the Grand Cafion, on Grand View trail, north of Flagstaff. The mine contains an immense body of carbonite and sulphite topper ores. Much of the ore shipped to smelters has run as high as 60 per cent. Copper.

Western Union Company Planning Extensive Development of Santa Maria Property—On Stock Exchange.

The Western Union Oil Company of Los Angeles is planning more extensive development of its property in the Santa Maria field. Recently large contracts were closed with operators of the old Alcatras refinery at Alcatras Landing, and in order to meet all demands it has been necessary to plan for more wells.

This week a contract was let to William Logan for ten new wells on the Callente tract. Two will be started at once. The company now has a possible production of considerably over 1000 barrrels of oil a day.

Not that grinding sort of credit that keeps you in constant fear. The Brent system appeals to all—poor or rich. It is a liberal credit plan whereby you can furnish a home complete and simply pay for it in easy sums. No credit house ever furnished as many homes as Brent's—nor one-half, nor one-third. If every man and woman would take the little trouble of visiting Brent's and having it all explained to them they would never be caught by the other sort of credit system. But what piace has a tenderfoot here, a mere novice who has no practical knowledge about irrigation except what he observed at the Newlands experiment at irrigation down in Washington? Newlands evidently concluded to try it on the dog first and before ascertaining what might be the effect of liquid inspiration. upon the arid regions in official circles at Washington [applause,] and by the way, that is a mighty thirsty belt. [Laughter.] Well, it seemed to work well enough, but when Newlands got through with his experiment there was one question that could not be settled in that atmosphere, and that was whether plain water would work as well.

was whether plain water would work as well.

"But, Mr. Chairman, having been called at the last moment to make a special response in regard to one of your Senstora, I can look you in the eye and let you feel the heart-beat when I say that down in Washington we consider your junior Senator, Mr. Bard, as pure gold. [Applause.] He does not need to make a speech to get what he wants, because when he asks for it we know that it has merit, and I doubt if any other man in the Senate could have duplicated his performance, when he came to the Committee on Buildings and Grounds in behalf of the beautiful city in which we meet tonight. But it has got to be understood there in the Senate that when Tom Bard asks for anything he has good grounds for it, and the committee hastens to grant his request.

MAXWELL AROUSES INTEREST.
In Mr. Maxwell spoke at some length and it was after midnight when he closed, but those who were present listened with the closest attention to every word, and the frequent and generous applause showed the interest which he awakened.

He opened by tracing the growth of the national irrigation movement since the formation of the National Irrigation Association and showed that the inspiration and support which had made the organization in the Bast posible had come from a great newspaper and the citizens of Los Angeles.

In discussing what had been done in Washington, he paid a strong tribute to the work of the Western Senators and members of Congress, and said that whatever he had been able to accomplish in Washington had been made possible by the unfailing cooperation and cordial support and friendship of the California Senators and California representatives especially, and of many others who were warm friends of the movement. He referred particularly, and with the strongest expression of appreciation to the courtesies which had been extended to him by Senator Quaries.

The doctors asked him about it yesterday, through interpreters.

The court ordered that the old man be released. He sat for a long time in the chamber sullenly complaining because the police had taken 30 cents from him when he was searched.

At last, he went down into the street. He found one of his lost shoes, and shoving it on squatted on a curb on New High street.

CURFEW ORDINANCE

NICK SENNETT'S VERY SMALL SACK OF FLOUR.

Drunken Poon Sought Caresses at Point of a Revolver—No Evidence Against Hernandes-Corney Pend

A small chunk of Police Court justice dealt out yesterday excited comment. Harry Hill and Mike Powers were "pulled" Wednesday evening for violition of the curtew ordinance, and were locked up overnight. When their cases were called by Justice Austin, they pleaded not guilty, with show of indignation, and asserted that they had been arrested at $:45, whereas the curfew hour is $0'clock.

In order to give the defendants as well as the officer an opportunity to summon witnesses, the hearing was continued until today at 4 0'clock, and the boys were remanded to jail in default of $5 bail each. Hill is the son of Joseph Hill, a carpenter who lives near the County Hospital, and is employed in a barber shop, and later, secured bail through his employer, but Powers is still held in jail as a criminal, with nobody to give him a lift.

Immediately following this case, C. Martin and Charles Roller were arrested on vagrancy charges. The arresting officer testified that Martin is a hop fiend, and a hanger-on around certain Chinatown joints, and had been arrested for his own good. Roller is a powerful young negro, and the complaint is that he too, hung around the Alameda-street dens, saloons and poolrooms until the proprietors complained that they could not get rid of him.

They were promptly released, on the stereotype order to appear Saturday for sentence, which simply means that Bright, who was acting lieutenant of the fire company, had hold of the hose and was knocked in the burning asphaltum, falling on his hands into a stream of the redhot fluid. Some of it ran into his boots also, but he was able to regain his footing and escape without further injuries. It was a close sail for Bright.

After fighting the flames for an hour the hose-wagon of Chemical Company No. Il was sent out and by II:30 o'clock the flames had been extinguished. As the hose wagon was leaving the engine-house it passed over the foot of Driver H. M. Baidwin, bruising the member. He was treated for his injury at the Receiving Hospital.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 4.—The friends of the State Normal School are encouraged to believe that the much desired appropriation of $50,000 for the completion of the building will be forthcoming at this winter's session of the Legislature. Gov. Pardee has expressed himself as friendly to the enterprise, while Gov. Gage was known to be the other way. While some changes are under advisement, it is probable that the original plans for the structure will be followed.

The body of "Jack" Elliott his been taken to Los Angeles and cremated, according to the provisions of his will. Elliott, who never married, and who was an eccentric character, was well off, owning an estate worth between $40,000 and $50,000. Considerable of it goes to his friends in this city. He wrote his own will, and there were no witnesses. He provided in the will that his body be kept until it was certain that death had taken place, after which it was to be cremated "without ostentation."

CAPTURED FORGER'S RECORD.

The man Williamson arrested in Portland, Or., for collecting $1200 in the name of John A. Bunting, was known here by the name of C. H. Williamson, and was in the employ of the telephone company as a lineman. He boarded at the Compopolitan Hotel, where he passed a bogus check for $37.50 on Mrs. Thomas O'Boyle, wife of the proprietor. He left here a little over a year ago.

Sheriff Borgwardt has been working on the case ever since, furnishing the officers at San Francisco with portraits and descriptions of the man, and it is largely due to his efforts that Williamson has been captured. It is not likely, however, that he will be brought back, as the officers in Oregon will no doubt claim him for a time at least.

Abijah Jones Shot Dead Through Mistake by Leulie Flood—Brothers Carry Remains Through Forty Miles

CATUCOS, Gept. 2.—Particulars were received late yesterday of the fatal shooting of Abijah J. Jones by Leslie L. Fleod, between 7 and 8 o'clock Sunday morning, in the San Carpojo Mountains, about forty miles from Cayucoa. Jones and Leslie and Stephen Flood left here last Wednesday for a deer hunt in the roughest part of this Coast, a section where Jones had lived many years, and who alone planned the details. At Jones's suggestion each hunter took a position at the angle of a triangle. It was agreed that no man should leave his station yithout signaling his companions.

A deer was signted within the triangle and Flood fired. He missed his game, but the brothers heard an ominous groan in the direction of Jones. A hurried search of the brush disclosed the lifeless body of Jones, with a bullet hole through the chest. He had violated his own rule by leaving his position.

Chicago Cable Cars Piled Up and Passengers Were Caught in Wreckage-None of Them Fatally Injured.

THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.1 CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—More than a CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—More than a score of people were hurt, several seriously, in a wreck on a Milwaukee-avenue cable train here early today. The train, composed of a grip and two other cars, was bringing a heavy load of working people downtown, when, between Girard street and Evergreen avenue, the grip struck a raised plate in the track. The middle car plunged into the grip, and the trailer crashed into it. Men, women and children were piled into a confused mass.

A panic followed, All available patrol wagons in the district were sent to the scene to extricate the passengers from the wreck. Many of the injured were planed in under the wreck, and were chopped or sawed out. It is believed that none will die. Nearly all of them were taken to their homes.

HUMBLE START IN LIFE.

He started as a clerk in a dry-goods house and worked early and late. One of his employers at this date, William A. Wheelock, Esq., became afterward a director in the Equitable Life Assurance Society, founded by Hyde, and sits today on its Finance Committee.

CASHIER OF MUTUAL LIFE.

attransor life is not absolutely dern, nor is it exclusively Ameran, but the verb "to hustle" has flavor peculiar to Columbia and is a quality which has contribe the Tankee has attracted the ring gase of the world. Amorg ustlers" who have already left indelible mark on the history of times I know of none who designed to a total outstanding assurannum. Its total outstanding assurance was only a little more than $17,500,000, and its accumulated assets a little over $2,000,000. Besides this company there were about forty American companies. There were not more than 70,000 people insured in these companies at that time. The amount carried on these lives hardly exceeded $120,000,000, and the annual payment of claims to deceased policy holders was about $2,000,000. These statistics are given in order that the contrast presented by the business today may be clearly appreciated.

IMMENSE WEALTH OF COMPANIES.

IMMENSE WEALTH OF COMPANIES.

There are about eighty companies (omitting the very small ones,) in the United States. Their combined accumulations are about $1,500,600,000. Their outstanding assurance in force is about $7,500,000,000. Their annual new business is about $14,000,000,000, and the annual amount paid to widows and orphans is about $118,000,000. I unhesitatingly assert that this tremendous change, involving what it does of comfort and protection to thousands and thousands of women and children bereft of their support; involving thrift and a provident habit; involving the wise distribution of wealth without pernicious communism; involving the eminimizing of poverty and the lessening of pauperism; involving the creation of centers of capital for lending purposes, thus assisting the masses; involving the honorable and lucrative employment of hundreds of thousands of people engaged in securing and conducting the business—is the direct result of the work of Henry Baldwin Hyde and of the decision made by him, at the age of 20, which is the subject of this article.

This is a boid deciaration, and should not be made unless there is evidence to support it. Those who have been intimately acquainted with the progress of this institution of life assurance during most of the past half century, as the writer has, know it to be ress of this institution of life assur-ance during most of the past half cen-tury, as the writer has know it to be a fact. For the instruction and en-couragement of those who have not, let us pick out for observation some of the leading events.

SERS HIS OPPORTUNITIES.

any one would be so intrepid as to undertake a rival enterprise had not entered his head. But he was not then aware of the aggressive characteristics of his cashler. Hyde had a brain which was prolific, an ambition which could only be satisfied by the attainment of the highest, a determination so indomitable that, as the future was to show, all fell before it. This young man, with no teacher but his own inner consciousness and his discriminating judgment, saw tremendous possibilities in the development of life assurance, and believed that he was the man to develop them. Over and above everything he was honest, direct and brave. There was nothing underhanded or mean about him. What he intended to do he would do, "cards on the table." So, one day, the imperious President Winston was astounded by the announcement from this eagle-ayed, erect, commanding youth, that he proposed organising a new life-assurance company, and that he desired the aid and counsel of his respected chief.

CHIEF CONDEMNS PLANS.

To the autocrat of the life-assurance business this was rank treason. Whether the aspirations of the audactious cierk could have been quenched by kindly treatment or not will never be known. It is history that the rigid president took the harsh course. He was indignant at the presumption and what he considered the disloyalty of this subaltern. He let him know in only and what he considered the disloyalty of the subaltern.

was indignant at the presumption and what he considered the disloyalty of his subaltern. He let him know in no uncertain ferms that it was impossible for any one to contrive the organization of an independent cencern and at the same time continue in the employ of the Mutual Life. Anger and contempt were clearly shown. Of course, it was Mr. Winston's expectation that the revolting scheme would be forthwith abandoned. It was his habit to be obeyed. But he counted without his host. He made the mistake of underestimating the force of the man who seemed to him to be assuming the role of adversary.

HESIGNS AND STARTS EQUITA-

RESIGNS AND STARTS EQUITA-BLE.

Here is where the momentous decision was made which shaped and controlled the astonishing life work of the most eminent man who has shown in the firmament of life assurance. Calm but dignified, respectful but firm, at bay, as it were, before that lion among forceful men, without an instant's hestation, looking his superior full in the eye, he made his decision.

"When can my resignation be accepted?" he asked.

"At once!" was Mr. Winston's immediate reply.

"At once!" was Mr. Winston's immediate reply.

Thus ended Hyde's connection with the Mutual Life. Thus began his career as the leader in the business and the constructor of American life assurance as it flourishes today. Within a week rooms were rented on Broadway, immediately over those of the Mutual Life, and a broad sign displayed on the front, overshadowing the Mutual's windows, bearing the words, "The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States."

NEW COMPANY'S SUCCESS.

NEW COMPANY'S SUCCESS.

Within the limits of this article a detailed account of the steps which led from this small beginning to the great results which ensued, cannot be given. The story is as thrilling as a romance. In the early days Mr. Winston frowned on the undertaking, and looked on Hyde as an audacious adventurer. Today the two companies stand side by side, peers in the work, each having over $1,250,000,000 of business on their books, and each transacting over $200,000,000 of new business per annum. It is creditable both to Mr. Winston and Mr. Hyde that all animosities were buried during their life time and that they became firm friends, each recognizing the high merits of the other. Both lie today in honored graves.

The alarm was turned in by telephone and a chemical engine was dispatched to the scene. Two tanks were ablaze and the water had little effect on the burning tar. The refinery is in a hollow of the hills and the oil ran burning down the slopes away from the tanks.

Bright, who was acting lieutenant of the fire company, had hold of the hose and was knocked in the burning asphaltum, falling on his hands into a stream of the redhot fiuld. Some of it ran into his boots also, but he was able to regain his footing and escape without further injuries. It was a close call for Bright.

After fighting the flames for an hour the hose-wagon of Chemical Company No. 11 was sent out and by 11:30 o'clock the flames had been extinguished. As the hose wagon was leaving the engine-house it passed over the foot of Driver H. M. Baldwin, bruising the member. He was treated for his injury at the Receiving Hospital.

The fire loss was fully covered by insurance.

TRAGIC CLOSE OF DEER CHASE IN

Abijah Jones Shot Dead Through Mistake by Leslie Flood—Brothers Carry Remains Through Forty Miles LOSS PROBABLY TWENTY THOU-

CAYUCOS, Sept. 2.—Particulars were received late yesterday of the fatal shooting of Abijah J. Jones by Lesile L. Flood, between 7 and 8 o'clock Sunday morning, in the San Carpojo Mountains, about forty miles from Cayucos. Jones and Lesile and Stephen Flood left here last Wednesday for a deer hunt in the roughest part of this Coast, a section where Jones had lived many years, and who alone planned the details. At Jones's suggestion each hunter took a position at the angle of a triangle. It was agreed that no man should leave his station without signaling his companions.

A deer was sighted within the triangle and Flood fired. He missed his game, but the brothers heard an ominous groan in the direction of Jones. A hurried search of the brush disclosed the lifeless body of Jones, with a bullet hole through the chest. He had violated his own rule by leaving his position.

The brothers at once began the ardu-

SANTA MARIA, Sept. 4.—An acetylene gas plant in Freear's saloon exploded at $:30 this evening, and started a fire that destroyed $30,000 worth of property. Freear was seriously burned in the explosion, and an employe named Faunteroy was badly cut by flying glass. Both of the men will recover.

The fire spread with great rapidity and burned completely Freear's saloon, Melizer's barber shop. Black's fruit store, Dolan & Jones's restaurant, Lequerer's saloon, Jesse Bros', saloon and partially destroyed Shleisher's drygoods store. There was very little insurance, so far as can be learned.

Several people received more or less severe burns in attempting to extinguish the flames, but none of the injuries were serious, except those sustained by Freear and Fauntleroy.

Nome of Them Fatally Injured.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—More than a score of people were hurt, several seriously, in a wreck on a Milwaukee-avenue cable train here early today. The train, composed of a grip and two other cars, was bringing a heavy load of working people downtown, when, between Girard street and Evergreen avenue, the grip struck a raised plate in the track. The middle car plunged into the grip, and the trailer crashed into it. Men, women and children were piled into a confused mass.

A panic followed. All available patrol wagons in the district were sent to the scene to extricate the passengers from the wreck. Many of the injured were pinned in under the wreck, and were chopped or sawed out. It is believed that none will die. Nearly all of them were taken to their homes. SAN PEDRO, Sept. 4.—A force of carpenters has been employed in moving the Front-street pavilion since early yesterday morning. The building has been cut into three parts, and rollers have been placed under each for its removal. It was at first intended to make a dining-hall out of the structure, to be used in connection with the Hotel Miramar, but this plan seems to have fallen through. It is now proposed to turn the old structure into three separate cottages for rental purposes.

H. R. HYDE'S CRISIS. -EMPLOYER AND ANNOUNED IN-TON TO START RIVAL COMPANY— ASSURANCE PIONEER—"MOMEN-DECISION" BY A TOUNG MAN H LED TO EXTRAORDINARY RE-BY JAMES W. ALEXANDER.

heir times I know of none who de-cryss distinction more than the late Henry Baldwin Hyde of New York. Iome have stormed citadels; some have

JAMES W. ALEXANDER.

HUMBLE START IN LIFE. It would be difficult if not impossible to find a more emphatic illustration of the effect of a "momentous desison" than in the life of Henry Baldwin Hyde. A poor country boy, he found himself alone in New York in the rear 126, without triends, without excrete, without money, with nothing the first own character and courage and the first own character and courage and an unknown future before him.

He started as a clerk in a dry-goods house and worked early and late. One of his employers at this date, William A. Wheelock, Esq., became afterward a director in the Equitable Life Assurance Society, founded by Hyde, and sits today on its Finance Committee.

CASHIER OF MUTUAL LIFE.

CASHIER OF MUTUAL LIFE.
But Hyde was destined for higher things, and he became later the cashier of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. The scientific and beneficent character of this business attracted his interest and taste, and he made it a study. His far-seeing intelligence showed him possibilities in it which had never been dreamed of. Up to this time the affairs of the life companies had been conducted in an easy-going way. The most important of them all was the Mutual Life, which was then nine years old, and was doing about $1,000,000 of assurance per annum. Its total outstanding assurwas then hine years oid, and was doing about $3,000,000 of assurance per annum. Its total outstanding assurance was only a little more than $17,-500,000, and its accumulated assets a little over $2,000,000, Besides this company there were about forty American companies. There were not more than 70,000 people insured in these companies at that time. The amount carried on these lives hardly exceeded $120,000,000, and the annual payment of claims to deceased policy holders was about $2,006,000. These statistics are given in order that the confrast presented by the business today may be clearly appreciated.

IMMENSE WEALTH OF COMPANIES.

NIES. There are about eighty companies (omitting the very small ones.) in the United States. Their combined accumulations are about $1,900,000,000. Their cutstanding assurance in force. United States. Their combined accumulations are about $1,900,000,000. Their outstanding assurance in force is about $7,900,000,000. Their annual new business is about $1,400,000,000. And the annual amount paid to widows and orphans is about $115,000,000. I unhesitatingly assert that this tremendous change, involving what it does of comfort and protection to thousands and thousands of women and children bereft of their support; involving the right and a provident habit; involving the wise distribution of wealth without pernicious communism; involving the minimizing of poverty and the lessening of pauperism; involving the reation of centers of capital for lending purposes, thus assisting the masses; involving the honorable and lucrative employment of hundreds of thousands of people engaged in securing and conducting the business—is the direct result of the work of Henry Baldwin Hyde and of the decision made by him, at the age of 25, which is the subject of this article.

This is a bold declaration, and should not be made unless there is evidence to support it. Those who have been intimately acquainted with the progress of this institution of life assurance during most of the past half century, as the writer has, know it to be a fact. For the instruction and encouragement of those who have not, let us pick out for observation some of the leading events.

SEES HIS OPPORTUNITIES.

any one would be so intrepld as to undertake a rival enterprise had not entered his head. But he was not then aware of the aggressive characteristics of his cashier. Hyde had a brain which was prolific, an ambition which could only be satisfied by the attainment of the highest, a determination so indomitable that, as the future was to show, all fell before it. This young man, with no teacher but his own inner consclousness and his discriminating judgment, saw tremendous possibilities in the development of life assurance, and believed that he was the man to develop them. Over and above everything he was honest, direct and brave. There was nothing underhanded or mean about him. What he intended to do he would do, "cards on the table." So, one day, the imperious President Winsten was astounded by the announcement from this eagle-eyed, erect, commanding's youth, that he proposed organizing a new life-assurance company, and that he desired the aid and counsel of his respected chief.

CHIEF CONDEMNS PLANS.

To the autocrat of the life-assurance business this was rank treason. Whether the aspirations of the audacious clerk could have been quenched by kindly treatment or not will never be known. It is histery that the rigid president took the harsh course. He president took the harsh course. He was indignant at the presumption and what he considered the disloyalty of his subaltern. He let him know in no uncertain ferms that it was impossible for any one to contrive the organization of an independent cencern and at the same time continue in the employ of the Mutual Life, Anger and contempt were clearly shown. Of course, it was Mr. Winston's expectation that the revolting scheme would be forthwith abandoned. It was his habit to be obeyed. But he counted without his host. He made the mistake of underestimating the force of the man who seemed to him to be assuming the role of adversary.

BESIGNS AND STARTS EQUITA-

HESIGNS AND STARTS EQUITABLE.

Here is where the momentous decision was made which shaped and controlled the astonishing life work of the most eminent man who has shown in the firmament of life assurance. Caim but dignified, respectful but firm, at bay, as it were, before that lion among forceful men, without an instant's healtation, looking his superior full in the eye, he made his decision.

"When can my resignation be accepted?" he asked.

"At once!" was Mr. Winston's immediate reply.

Thus ended Hyde's connection with the Mutual Life. Thus began his career as the leader in the business and the constructor of American life assurance as it flourishes today. Within a week rooms were rented on Broadway, immediately over those of the Mutual Life, and a broad sign displayed on the front, overshadowing the Mutual's windows, bearing the words, "The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States."

NEW COMPANY'S SUCCESS.

Within the limits of this article a detailed account of the steps which led from this small beginning to the great results which ensued, cannot be given. The story is as thrilling as a romance. In the early days Mr. Winston frowned on the undertaking, and looked on Hyde as an audacious adventurer. Today the two companies stand side by side, peers in the work, each having over $1.256,000,000 of business on their books, and each transacting over $200,000 of new business per annum. It is creditable both to Mr. Winston and Mr. Hyde that all animosities were buried during their life time and that they became firm friends, each recognizing the high merits of the other. Both lie today in honored graves.

CAPTURES THE FOREIGN MAR-NEW COMPANY'S SUCCESS.

CAPTURES THE FOREIGN MAR-

company of which he was president, Hyde from the moment he entered the lists injected an energy and progressive spirit into the business which made it advance with leaps and bounds. Hardly a reform of meritorious character was introduced, except by him. And reforms were needed, and their establishment followed up by Herculean industry and the use of brains of a high order made life assurance popular. Imitators appeared. The existing companies caught the fire. Not content with a home market, Hyde pioneered American life assurance in Europe and bearded the British lion in his den. Received at first with contempt by the foreign people, the American companies fought their way into recognition and confidence, and today the outstanding foreign business exceeds 590,00,000. Hyde, like Alexander the Orest, conquered the world, and died at the age of 56, the acknowledged great figure in the field chosen by him for a career. If the decision made by him on that eventful day, when the strong hand of President Winston aimed a blow at his ambition, had been different, and he had succumbed to his superior's will, not only a man would have lost a brilliant career, but a nation would have lost a superious advantage.

JAMES W. ALEXANDER.

tax, which applies only to the country districts.

The reason for the probable decrease in the tax rate is the fact that the assessed valuation of the county has increased fit,000,000.

The Supervisors have to dig up money for several big splurges for next year. The new jail and new hospital have to be paid for.

The new jail will cost $140,000 when it is completed. It has to be paid for on the installment plan as fast as certain parts of the work are finished. It is estimated that about $50,000 will have to be paid for out of this year's levy about to be fixed.

The amount to be fixed in the levy for the new county hospital will not be known to a certainty until plans have been adopted. It is not the purpose of the board at once to crect all the buildings pictured in any of the plans, but to crect only one or two in the immediate future, and put up the rest at the rate of one or two each year.

Another of the big items of expense that will probably be in the tax levy will be $10,000 for the St. Louis Exposition.

NICK SENNETT'S VERY SMALL SACK OF FLOUR.

Drunken Peen Sought Caresses at Point of a Revolver-No Evidence

A small chunk of Police Court justice dealt out yesterday excited comment. Harry Hill and Mike Powers were "pulled" Wednesday evening for violation of the curfew ordinance, and were locked up overnight. When their cases were called by Justice Austin, they pleaded not guilty, with show of indignation, and asserted that they had been arrested at $:45, whereas the curfew hour is 9 o'clock.

In order to give the defendants as well as the officer an opportunity to summon witnesses, the hearing was continued until today at 4 o'clock, and the boys were remanded to jail in default of $5 ball each. Hill is the son of Joseph Hill, a carpenter who lives near the County Hospital, and is employed in a barber shop, and later, secured bail through his employer, but Powers is still held in jail as a criminal, with nobody to give him a lift.

Immediately following this case, C. Martin and Charles Roller were arresting officer testified that Martin is a hop fiend, and a hanger-on around certain Chinatown joints, and had been arrested for his own good. purpose as well as to his person.

He approached a woman at a hydrant, with the revolver in his hand, and she dropped her washing and ran. He then entered the house of another Mexican woman with the same demonstrations, and an officer was called.

After this testimony had been adduced, a third woman was put upon the stand.

Corney Pendleton, honorary barber, appeared in the Police Court yesterday for the first time since his nomination for the State Senatorship.

He acted as attorney for James Ross and Joe Bennett, who were arraigned on a charge of conducting a saloon without a license. They gave bond for their appearance the 18th inst.

SOMETHING "DOING" AT THE BURBANK.

TREATER MANAGER PITCHES IN AND SWEEPS OUT.

Morosco Wields Broom and Open Clean House Regardless of the Missin

If the matinée giris really knew why, they would sit along the main alse in the Burbank and snuggie into the arms of the chairs, with all the pleasant sensations of retrospection. The alsies of theaters generally ull look alike, when a good play as on, or when a big, strong, handsome, matinée idol, who is "the sweetest fellow you ever met," is rushing through four act fiercely, looking for the dastardly villain who threw the mush in Nelle's eyes.

All theater aisles, however, are not like those in the Burbank now, for the unusual has happened to them.

Just think! Oliver Morosco, actor, theater owner, bon vivant, and bosom friend of real good play actors, actually swept out part of the Burbank one evening, and had his hands ot the arms of the chairs the society giris neatle in!

fumed, swept, dusted and tore around for half an hour, in a vain effort to get the theater clean when the doors should, open at 7:20, and seeing that they were swamped. Morosco jumped on his wheel, rushed down sirgest and secured seven Japa, and with this additional force the big house was cleaned and put in order, and the doors opened at 7:23 o'clock for the "upstairs" audience.

If you can remember the night the Burbank opened two minutes late, you will know when Morosco swept the carpets and dusted the chairs in his shirt sleeves and diamonds.

affairs of business and politics in Los Angeles county. He was one of the best known of the ploneers of "boom days." His sporting-goods house, the Tufts-Lyon Arms Company, on Spring street, is the largest in the Fouthwest. It was founded by Mr. Tufts, although its management has been in the hands of his sons a number of years.

New Corporation With Million Dol-lars Capital Will Enlarge California Plant and Maintain Warehouse in Los

Los Angeles dealers in glass and bot tles will be interested in the recen consolidation of the Abrahamson-Hue thes will be interested in the recent consolidation of the Abrahamson-Huenisch Glass Company of San Francisco with the Pacific Coast interests of the Illinois Glass Company and the United States Bottlers Supply Company of Chicago. Thus are the glassmakers of the West "merged"—or, to use the most modern word, "morganised."

The new regime takes form in a new corporation, just formed, called the Illinois-Pacific Glass Company, which has a paid-up capital stock amounting to H.000,000.

The old Abrahamson-Huenisch Glass Company had been in business in San Francisco for many years employing at times as many as 1500 persons, and paying wages and salasses that amounted to front His,000 to His,000 a week. In fact, it is stated, this has been the second manufacturing concern on the Coast in point of wage payments, being ied only by the Union Iron Works.

According to representations by the Illinois-Pacific Glass Company, the consolidation of interests just effected in not in the nature of a trust. Heretofore there has been fierce rivalry between the three competitors for Pacific Coast business, but hereafter the eastern companies will not ship their goods to the Coast, allowing the San Francisco firm to serve the entire trade. The effect of this arrangement will be to enlaing the California plant and add 200 or more employes to the wage list.

Warehouses will be maintained in in charge of the Los Angeles branch is J.
